Background

In December 2018, the General Assembly adopted the Global Compact for Safe, Orderly, and Regular Migration (GCM). It is the first inter-governmentally negotiated agreement prepared under the auspices of the United Nations covering all aspects of international migration. The GCM recognizes migration as being relevant to all Sustainable Development Goals and is grounded in the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. The goals reviewed in-depth during this year's High-Level Political Forum are particularly relevant to the GCM. Target 10.7 specifically calls for orderly, safe, and responsible migration, as well as well-managed migration policies.

To support its implementation, the GCM calls for the establishment of the Migration MPTF. The Migration MPTF is both an initial and complementary source of financing, providing seed-funding and promoting partnerships with other sources of funding. Potential synergies between the Migration MPTF and other United Nations funds help realize complementary objectives of the GCM and the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. The Start-up Fund receives voluntary financial contributions by Member States and other stakeholders. It is the only funding mechanism fully dedicated to supporting collective action on migration.

The Migration MPTF is one of the three pillars of the capacity-building mechanism established in the GCM to support its implementation. It will inform the other components of the capacity-building mechanism: the connection hub that facilitates demand-driven integrated solutions, and the knowledge platform that will consist in an online open data source.

Objectives
